COMPANY PROFILE

The UZIEL Fighting System© has established itself among Police Agencies and Military personnel as an industry leader in modern combatives training. The majority of combatives training being taught to law enforcement and Military personnel are currently “sports based” martial-arts (Jiu-Jitsu etc.).

We believe that this is not an applicable form of defensive tactics to use when the Officer is weighed down with heavy kit and has limited mobility. In reality, most conflicts also happen in an environment with limited or restrictive space. Complicated forms of fighting require the use of fine motor skills which unfortunately are not based on any science. The UZIEL Fighting System© uses gross and compound movements which can be performed under the extreme stress of combat and is based on the bio-mechanics of the way the human body works.

We are not concerned about making a bad-guy “tap out “during a critical incident of life or death. Our training is designed to immobilize your Attacker thereby stopping the attack. Transitioning from Carbine, Pistol, Edged Weapons and unarmed combat is what our system is based on. Should you be engaged while holding a firearm from close quarters you will find the tactics we teach in our programs are seamlessly integrated together and interchangeable.

Both criminals and Terrorists have become better trained and are increasingly more aggressive. Four Law Enforcement professional were gunned down in the opening weeks of 2012. “Lack of training” was seen to be a root cause of these tragic deaths. In line service deaths for Police rose 14% in 2011. For our Military agencies, the “Arab Spring” has brought instability to many countries and has seen the rise of right wing Islamic groups ,many of whom are affiliated with Al-Qaeda terrorist cells.

Our perspective on training is that the modern operator needs to be well rounded and equipped to deal with any critical incident in which they become involved. Your environment can be the confined quarters of an aircraft or vessel because there is no requirement for space in our CQC programs.

There has been a “new trend” for companies to offer combatives specific to certain topics such as: CP (close protection); counter-terrorism; anti-piracy; air marshal training; Police arrest/control etc. Our view point is that you should have ONE program that will work irrespective of your profession in law enforcement.

Our training has been tested by SWAT and other high-risk Police teams in the field. We have worked with very experienced Military personnel both in Canada and the U.S. and have had our courses scrutinized by Soldiers with multiple tours of combat duty.

Here are some testimonials from ERT and SWAT Officers about our training:

I have been a police officer for 9 years, a member of a Tactical Unit for 5 years and involved in various martial arts for over 10 years. I have always found that most of the combatives training I have received to be totally inadequate in preparing me for the real dangers of policing.

Unlike other martial arts that I have trained in, which utilize intricate holds and require fine motor skills, the Uziel Fighting System uses gross motor movements and devastating holds that can be applied under stress. The Uziel System is designed to be instantly effective and eliminate the threat and move on, recognizing that as officers, we will often encounter more than one threat at a time. Uziel Instructors put you in the worst possible positions and show you how to fight your way effectively to a position of control. They make their students realize that no matter how well trained you are, you will likely be injured in a life and death encounter, but they also give you the confidence to know that you can fight through and survive. But what I liked most about the Uziel System and its instructors was that unlike other martial arts, they presume that the threat we face will be a highly skilled and motivated attacker, and therefore train to overcome that threat. This is the course that all Police Training Bureaus should model themselves off.

SWAT Operator/ Ontario (name withheld)

I have been a Police officer for 20 years with a background in various Martial Arts. I have been a member of a Tactical Unit for ½ my career and this is the first time I have seen or practiced a system that is what I have been looking for. The training that Police officers receive is inadequate and not practical. It is all geared towards, getting to a place of safety and looking good for the Courts. When does my life come into play here? Why should this attacker be allowed to continue with this type of behavior?

Uziel takes the attack back and guarantees your survival. The techniques taught are realistic, easy to practice, very effective and quick.

Sgt./ SWAT Ontario (name withheld)

I have trained with the Uziel instructors and find them to be professional as well as current in their approach to critical incident survival. They also have the fresh attitude of treating the bad guys as being well trained, instead of hoping they are not.

I highly recommend these classes/ seminars to all people working in the law enforcement field as it will open your eyes to the dangers, and give you options that your current training may not.

Current SWAT Operator/ Ontario (name withheld)

The training that Odhinn and Uziel provided was professional and needed. His expertise is relevant and current. Anyone dealing with military and/or law enforcement should consider the training, it can save lives. You will walk away with a new respect and overall confidence in your new found skill set.”

The UZIEL Fighting System© is currently being used by some of the largest Police Agencies in Canada. Unlike other companies we do not train the civilian market. You cannot walk in off the street to one of our courses. We do not publicize our system in Martial-Arts magazines or newspapers. You will not find any videos of our tactics on "YouTube" or other websites. We go so far as to not even allow our t-shirts to be sold to the civilian market.

Other companies make claims that they teach Military/Police personnel but these are the ONLY groups that receive our training. Our company (www.UZIELcp.com) has taught Military CQC Instructors and many Police Use of Force Instructors. The UZIEL Fighting System© is now being incorporated into departmental training with various LE Agencies. We also now offer UZIEL Instructor Certification courses and will be running these throughout the 2012 year.

Be safe. Train for the fight!

“Out of every one hundred men, ten shouldn't even be there, eighty are just targets, nine are the real fighters, and we are lucky to have them, for they make the battle. Ah, but the one, one is a warrior, and he will bring the others back.”
